DR. JESSIE RUSSELL

CLUB WOMEN IN THIS ASSEMBLY DISTRICT URGE DR. RUSSELL'S CANDIDACY

Several large delegations of prominent women from different localities have recently called on Dr. Jessie A. Russell, requesting her to become a candidate for the assembly in this district.

Dr. Russell has promised to give her decision within a few days. Two years ago Dr. Russell was urged to become a candidate for this office but declined.

Women active in civic, social welfare and legislative work are urging Dr. Russell's candidacy, among these being Mrs. Chester Ashley, President of the Los Angeles Ebell Club; Mrs. Hester T. Griffiths, Past Pres. State W. C. T. U.; Mrs. Clarence Van Graham, Pres. Woman's City Club; Mrs. Lloyd W. Harmon, Past Pres. of Los Angeles Dist. California Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Martha W. Law, President L. A. Federation W. C. T. U.; Mrs. Frederick Houser, President Alhambra Women's Club; Mrs. W. H. Anderson, State Recording Secretary California Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. M. E. Johnson, President Wednesday Morning Club, and numerous others.

More than 300 women in the district have already offered their support in campaigning for Dr. Russell should she become a candidate.

It is generally conceded by men and women alike that women should be represented in the legislature, especially this year, when measures of vital importance to humanity will be considered.

Dr. Russell has for over twenty years been active in legislative lines. Prior to coming to California 14 years ago, she worked for humanitarian measures in Eastern legislatures, and was often present at the sessions at Washington when important measures were pending; consequently she has had a wide opportunity to secure much practical knowledge. She has assisted in drafting some of the most important laws affecting humanity which have been passed in recent years in this state. One of a special interest to women referring to community property which was endorsed by the Women's Legislative Council and passed in the last legislative session.

Dr. Russell has been prominently identified with various lines of activity since she retired from active practice as a physician, having been the first president of the Sixth street Parent-Teacher Association and also of the Parent-Teacher Federation in this city; for eight years she was a member of the State Executive Board of the California Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations and a year ago was elected state president of the same organization; she is chairman of the Women's Committee of the County Council of Defense, having been unanimously eletced to these positions by large delegated bodies of women. She was for four years vice-president of the Los Angeles Woman's City Club and has been legislative chairman of a number of organizations, including the Tropico Thursday Afternoon Club and the Glendale Tuesday Afternoon Club. She is an officer of the Women's Legislative Council of California, which is composed of all women's organizations in the state.

Y. M. C. A. FIGURES

BIG AND INTERESTING STATISTICS OF WAR WORK GIVEN BY GEORGE W. PERKINS

Ed M. Lee and Prof. Harry L. Howe of this city attended the Y. M. C. A. Council held in Los Angeles Wednesday, which was addressed by John R. Mott and George W. Perkins. The speakers gave some very interesting facts and figures regarding the expenditures out of the $50,000,000 fund raised for Y. M. C. A. war work, and stated that there yet remains about $20,000,000 which, they figure, will scarcely last until October 1st at the rate our soldiers are being landed in France. They stated that a large part of the money has been used for the erection of Y. M. C. A. huts, 538 buildings having been erected in training camps in this country alone. As many more have been purchased or built in Europe. For the operating expenses and equipment of the huts built for the six military departments in this country $4,000,000 have been expended. Nearly 7000 workers are now employed in the war service of the Y. M. C. A. at home and abroad, and the rapid increase of our military forces necessitates an increase of Y. M. C. A. workers at the rate of about 1000 per month. Out of the Y. M. C. A. fund $5,000,000 has been spent for canteen supplies that all the reasonable needs and desires of the soldiers may be met, and to show the variety and quantities of these supplies a rough inventory of purchases was supplied by Mr. Perkins as follows:

2500 cases of athletic goods.
840,000 packages of biscuits.
210,000 pounds of candy.
1,400,000 cans of canned fruit.
4,000,000 packages of chewing

HONORING MISS JENNIE HORSCH

The two missionary societies of the Presbyterian Church of Glendale were hostesses Thursday evening at a reception given in honor of Miss Jennie Horsch of Oakland. Mrs. John Wilde and Miss Ruth Bynum had decorated the room very tastefully with ferns and Chinese lanterns and made a pretty setting for the delightful but informal program given by Mrs. Jones, Mr. Reynolds, little Jeannette Stafford and Mr. Desplantes. Mrs. Hesse in her unique way told of incidents in the life of Miss Horsch which led her to dedicate her life to making the lives of Chinese girls better and brighter. Miss Horsch then described some features of her work. Mr. Edmonds contributed a few words in closing. The Misses Harrison, Howe and Preston, assisted by others, presided with grace over the refreshment tables, and the spirit of good fellowship and co-operation in which the church and Miss Horsch are united was manifest throughout the evening.

RED CROSS GARDEN PARTY

Spencer Robinson, accompanied by Mrs. Robinson, and Mrs. William Herman West, accompanied by Miss Gertrude Champlain, will contribute vocal numbers at the big Red Cross garden party to be given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Toll on Kenneth road Monday evening. Other musical numbers will be: piano solo, Mrs. John A. Wright; violin solo, Mrs. Nelson Higgins of Van Nuys, and there will be chorus singing by the audience, all of which will supplement the chief entertainment, the dramatic readings by B. T. Robley of the University of California.

Ice cream and cake will be dispensed by the young ladies who have agreed to assist with the refreshments and the cream will be served in both dish and cornucopia form. For the comfort and convenience of patrons, long tables will be placed under the trees.

The special automobiles marked with a Red Cross on the wind shield which will do bus service for a fee of 10 cents in conveying guests to and from the party, will run on Brand boulevard starting at Tropico avenue, and will stop on signal from the curb.

A BIG WAR GARDEN

One of the large gardens in Glendale that is exceptionally well cultivated and irrigated is the one being cared for by George E. Murphy of 121 North Brand boulevard. In this garden is an assortment of vegetables which occupies almost a fourth of the block. Mr. Murphy, who is by profession a builder and contractor, is giving his individual time to the garden work as a war measure, and he is truly making a success of the work.

GLEN EYRIE PARTY

IS BRILLIANT AND SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR—BENEFIT FOR RED CROSS

The card party given Thursday evening at Masonic Temple under the auspices of Glen Eyrie Chapter, Eastern Star, for the benefit of the Red Cross, was said by those who attended to have been the most successful affair of the kind ever given in the Temple. Mrs. A. M. Beamon, who was chairman of the committee in charge of the party, has apparently recovered her health and went after all the details with her customary old-time energy and enthusiasm. When it is considered that the admission charge was only twenty-five cents and that the Chapter will turn over $110 to the local Red Cross as a result of the evening's entertainment, it will be readily seen that some strenuous work was done.

A patriotic atmosphere was apparent throughout the evening. The decorations in the national colors were donated by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Deal, Mrs. Deal spending several days in fashioning and placing them.

The program was given in the auditorium and consisted of several splendid and unique numbers. After the audience had sung the national anthem, Mr. Nightingale, formerly of the Orpheum circuit, entertained with such clever stunts and tricks that he was enthusiastically encored time after time. That this professional entertainer should give so lavishly of his time and talent was much appreciated by those in charge.

Little Miss Lois Naudain, dainty fairy that she is, gave one of her pretty solo dances. She was at her best and tripped most beguilingly to the accompaniment played by her mother, Mrs. E. R. Naudain.

As usual the audience went wild when Miss Viola Yorba and her cousin and dancing partner, Ernest Martinez, gave one of their inimitable and charming Spanish dances.

W. C. Wattles, who holds the amateur championship of Southern California for Indian club swinging, gave a very clever demonstration that was one of the fine features of the program.

Miss Florence Rattray, Glendale's sweet little singer, gave "Mavis" and was enthusiastically recalled.

Mrs. John Allen Legge sang very sweetly with Miss Alice Grey Beach as her accompanist and Mrs. Legge and Miss Beach very charmingly interpreted the Overture from Oberon.

Frances and Harold Betz gave a very clever dance that was greatly appreciated, judging from the applause.

Attorney Frederick Baker gave a four-minute patriotic address and the program closed with the audience singing "America."

Following the program those who were so disposed went to the rooms above, where card tables were arranged and these were soon filled. Those who did not care for cards remained below and indulged in tripping the light fantastic.

Prizes for Five Hundred were awarded to Mrs. W. M. Kimball, who received a pair of Persian inlaid gold knitting needles and Albert Cornwell, who was given a solid gold flag pin. Mrs. Trost received the lady's consolation prize, an amber pin, and Harrison Frank was consoled with a Thrift Stamp. The prizes were donated by Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Beamon.

Members of Glen Eyrie were proud that so many boys from the rifle range attended their party and showed such whole-hearted enjoyment of the program and of the dance that followed.

Mrs. Beamon was assisted in arranging the details of the party by Mrs. C. O. Pulliam, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Deal, Mrs. H. E. Betz and Mr. Beamon. The Red Cross shop donated a quantity of fruit punch that was left from the street dance and this was used to refresh the guests.

LAND ARMY TEA

MRS. ALMA WHITTAKER IS SPEAKER FOR BRITISH AMBULANCE SOCIETY

Last Wednesday the seventh in the series of patriotic "Teas" was given for the British Ambulance Society by the tea committee and proved as great a success as its predecessors, which is saying a good deal, as every one of these little entertainments has been interesting and unusually enjoyable. The pretty rooms of the Jewel City Cafe, so kindly loaned by Mr. and Mrs. Hollingsworth for these affairs, looked especially attractive on Wednesday, as masses of pink hydrangeas and asparagus fern were used to decorate the fountain and

READY TO PAY

In addressing Congress concerning the new taxation made necessary by speeding up the war, President Wilson wisely advised the Congressmen to ignore the comment heard in the lobbies of Washington hotels and look to the country for guidance.

He was right. The spirit of the nation has risen to an appreciation of the task at hand, and a determination to see it through. As he says, "the people of this country are not only united in the resolute purpose to win the war, but are ready and willing to bear any burden and undergo any sacrifice that it may be necessary for them to bear in order to win it.

Congress need not be afraid to tax the nation, and to tax it more heavily than we ever dreamed of being taxed—if it will only "lay taxes justly." The people know that the war must be paid for. They expect to pay for it. They will not whine or shrink. If Congress imposes the taxes according to a wise and just plan, they will pay any number of billions "cheerfully and with a sort of solemn pride," in the same spirit in which they have subscribed to the Liberty Loans and the Red Cross funds.—Riverside Press.

AMERICAN ARTILLERY MOTORIZED

With the diminished use of cavalry and the superiority of airplanes, the horse is not holding his own even in war. And now the army mule is on his way to the scrap heap. Motorization of field artillery is being carried to a greater extent in the American army than in any other army engaged in the war. Not only will a far greater amount of motor equipment be provided in proportion to the strength of th army, but it will be used for work where armies now in the field depend solely upon horse power and man power.

The ordnance department has succeeded in developing such types of tractors that, exclusive of the heaviest field artillery mounted on railroad carriages, all American artillery will be motorized, with the exception of some of the 3 inch gun batteries. The problem of motorization of field artillery is a difficult one, which explains why it has not been carried to greater extent than has been the case with the armies that have been fighting in Europe for the last three years.

The possible output of tractors for the transport of field artillery in the united States is practically unlimited, whereas the supply of horses is at present limited and is becoming more so each month.—Hollywood Inquirer.

LAND ARMY TEA

lies made gay touches of color through the rooms, while outside two handsome flags, the Stars and Stripes and Union Jack, were mingling their colors together in the breeze, even as these same flags are now doing "somewhere in France," all over England and Europe. The Union Jack was made by forty children of the Intermediate school under the direction of Miss Clara Midcalf and presented to the Society at the American Tea. The Stars and Stripes was given by the Bank of Glendale, and the two flags were presented to the British Ambulance Society on Wednesday as a special gift from the tea committee.

The Star-Spangled Banner opened the program, followed by a brilliant Polonaise, "America," very well played by Miss Ruth Robinson, pianist. Julius Kranz gave a charming rendition of one of his own compositions, "A Mission Romance," and responded to the enthusiastic encore he received. He was accompanied by Miss Gertrude Champlain in her usual artistic and skillful manner. A very delightful young singer from Hollywood, Miss Miriam White, came next on the program and gave a "Spanish Serenade" and "My Laddie," and charmed her audience with the beauty and sweetness of her voice and personality. As Mrs. Johnson could not be present, her place on the program was filled by Mrs. Fred Hickox, vice-president of the Woman's City Club of Los Angeles and a very prominent war worker. She gave an interesting talk on the great work the women accomplished in the last Liberty Loan and extended a cordial invitation to all Glendale club women to visit the City Club any Monday. The presentaiton of the headquarters flags was next on the program and was made by Miss Ina Whitaker, Chairman of the Tea Committee.

The president of the British Ambulance Society, Mrs. E. W. Pack, responded and made some appropriate remarks, followed by general announcements, including an invitation to all British-born people to join in the patriotic service to be held next Sunday evening in the Methodist church.

Tea was then served, after which Mr. Kranz again delighted the audience and gave a Spanish Dance by Sarasate. Following this the chairman presented the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Alma Whitaker, who gave a most interesting talk on the Women's Land Army and Work in Elsinore and elsewhere. She was becomingly garbed in the picturesque and practical uniform of the Land Army and gave her hearers a vivid impression of efficiency and dash, whilst giving the girl workers their just due of praise for fine work already accomplished. Miss Miriam White then gave a spirited rendition of "When the Boys Come Home" by Oley Spekes and "East and West" by Harry Lauder. The singing of the national anthems of America and England closed this delightful program. The hostesses were Mrs. Charles Toll and Mrs. J. L. Whitaker, assisted by Mrs. Alex Mitchell, Mrs. Begg, Mrs. Herman Nelson, Mrs. Helen Campbell, Mrs. Hornsey, Mrs. Borncamp and the Misses Ina Whitaker, Gertrude Mash, Alice Bornecamp, Helen and Ruth Begg. Assisting on the receiving committee were Mrs. E. W. Pack and Mrs. W. W. Ramsay, while special guests of honor were Mrs. Martha Morris, Mrs. Wm. Lindsay, Mrs. G. V. Levinge, Mrs. Holmes of the Friday Morning Club, Mrs. Chas. Winsel, Mrs. Percy Davis and Mrs. Chas. Pate. Tehre was a good attendance and everyone was most enthusiastic over the affair, which was voted highly successful.

MAPS OF CAMPS AND CANTONMENTS

Much interest has been aroused by the announcement that the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, is preparing special maps of practically all the National Army and National Guard camps and cantonments. Maps of Camp Sherman, Ohio, and Camp Upton, Long Island, N. Y., have already appeared, and work on the others is being rushed to completion. The two maps just published show, in addition to the usual topographic features—culture, drainage, and relief—the boundaries of the camps themselves, and they bear a text—interesting and valuable to the layman as well as to the scientist—describing the historic and geologic events that have occurred in the region. The author of the Camp Sherman text tells simple terms the story of the imprints of a rude civilization, now represented by earthen mounds and walled inclosures; of the founding of Chillicothe, one of the oldest towns in Ohio and its capital at intervals between 1803 and 1816; of the original lay of the country and the changes brought about by the processes of nature; and of the soil and vegetation of the region about the camp.

The Camp Upton map offers a suggsetion as to the nature of the country whose picturesque hills have been utilized as building sites by wealthy New Yorkers. The description includes interesting details of Long Island, which is likened to a gigantic whale aground in the shallow water off the coast of Connecticut, its tail at the east end of Long Island Sound, catching the surges that roll from the broad Atlantic. Rockaway Inlet, Montauk Point, Hempstead, and other places familiar to easterners find their way into a story in which the reader is in fancy carried back through the ages and introduced to the natural processes that have made the hills and plains—those products of the colossal glaciers of the Great Ice age—and the sand dunes and shore features, and is then led forward to the realities of present-day civilization and progress.

As they are accurate pictures of the areas covered these maps will be of special significance and value to the soldier. A knowledge of the landscape adds to the pleasure and intellectual development of the tourist, but to the soldier this knowledge is of far more vital importance, for nature, and not man, chooses the line of march and the field of battle. Successful spectacular campaigns have been made possible only through a most intimate knowledge of the topography of the country, for armies reckon not only with armies and with artificial obstructions but with the fortifications of nature as well. The present highly specialized trench warfare along the Western Front in France can be best conducted in areas where the land is composed of deep soil, soft limestone, or shale.

As all military maneuvers are thus dependent on the forms of the land—hills and valleys, mountains and plains—and on the character of the surface—that is, whether it is sandy, swampy, or hard—it is very desirable that even the private soldier should give some attention to the country round about him while he is undergoing his training in a camp in the United States. He may think that France is very different from the United States and that the surface features of the two countries have little in common, but the wider knowledge of geography to be gained by studying these maps would convince him that the surface over which have been waged some of the most sanguinary battles of the present war could be practically duplicated around many of the army camps in the United States. The country near Camp Custer, for example, is made up of irregular hummocky hills separated by lakes and streams, almost exactly like those in the region about the Mazurian lakes in eastern Prussia, in which both a Russian and a Germany army were practically annihilated. Again, the cliffs and sloping plateaus which are in sight from Camps Sherman and Taylor are similar to those which have played such an important part in the battle of the Marne and at Verdun, and the country about Camps Cody and Travis is a desert similar to that in which the Palestine campaign is being waged. A further analogy is prescribed by the flat plains of tidewater in Maryland and Virginia, which may be compared with the soaked and sodden plains of Flanders, on which has occurred some of the hardest fighting in the war.

It has always been a matter of wonder with the public and a matter of pride with the Geological Survey that its topographic maps—admittedly the best in existenec—are available at a cost so trivial; and now the Survey is offering these maps with the special features just described at the same nominal cost of paper and printing. The Camp Sherman and Camp Upton maps are sold at 10 cents a copy. Correspondence should be addressed to the Director of the United States Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

SEVENTH STREET IS ELK AVENUE

Complying with a request from forty-nine citizens residing on Seventh street, the board of trustees of the City of Glendale voted Thursday evening to change the name of Seventh street and Elrose avenue to Elk avenue.

At a previous meeting of the board there was a smaller petition requesting that another name be given the street. In changing the names of the streets the board adopted the policy of heeding the request of the majority residing on the street whose name is to be changed.

The ruling was made in response to a request from Stockton that Stockton boys at the camp be allowed to come home for the Fourth.

Rudy Boettner of Los Angeles, brother of Jack Boettner in the Glendale Post Office, has been called to the tall spruce timber at Vancouver Barracks and will leave this (Friday) morning with other men included in the call. He has tried to break into other branches of the service and been denied and is so anxious to serve Uncle Sam in some capacity that he is going very cheerfully to this assignment.

The luncheon served every Thursday in the Red Cross Store at 318 Brand boulevard has become a cabaret. Yesterday two little girls, Ruth Swanson and Jessie Jackson, with a third tot whom they called "Bettie," brought ukuleles and proposed giving a song and dance performance during the meal and turning the proceeds over to the Red Cross. They gave a preliminary program as a sample, which was very satisfactory, and promised to be on hand next Thursday.

L. T. Rowley of Belmont street, Glendale, who has been giving weeks and months of unselfish work to the salvage department of the Junior Red Cross, is going to Lankershim for a couple of months and has persuaded W. Mr. Nolan is a true patriot and has assisted enough in the past to know the character of the service expected of him.

Mrs. Wernette, of the High School P.-T. A., who has undertaken to be responsible for the continuance of the conservation work of girls of the High School, announces that Room 143 of the Household Art Building will be open all of Tuesday afternoon, July 2d, for Red Cross work, when sewing for the conservation department and yarn for knitting will be given out. Mr. Wattles will give an Indian club exhibition and there will be a splendid program, including a short talk by Mrs. Kemper Campbell.

The ladies who are in charge of the Friday Morning club Saturday night dances for soldiers will take charge of the dance.

Mrs. Richardson invites her young lady friends to assist in making this a pleasant affair for the boys and asks them to notice the change in date. Young men present will all be in uniform.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

The Glendale Presbyterian Sunday School has made arrangements to have a picnic at Brookside Park Monday, July 1st. Members of the church and congregation together with their friends are invited to come and help make the day pleasant for the children. A truck will leave Cedar and Broadway at 1 o'clock p. m. and the assistance of persons who have automobiles who are willing to help in transporting the little folks, will be much appreciated. A basket supper will be served at 6 p. m. and the first truck will leave the park for home at 7 o'clock, giving ample time for the little ones to be home before dark. Transportation will be provided for all the Sunday School children and their parents.

BIG LOCAL ATTRACTIONS

Friday, June 28th, the last of the interesting series of films featuring Benjamin Chapin as Abraham Lincoln will be given at the Palace Grand Theatre. This picture is entitled "A Call to Arms," and if it is as good as its predecessors, patrons will be filled with regret if they miss it. These films have brought the great "Son of Democracy" very near to the children of today, and their discontinuance will be a matter of regret to many people.

Saturday afternoon and evening "The Warrior," long anticipated, which features "Maciste," called the strongest man in the world, and whose part in "Cabiria" will be remembered by all who saw the play, will be on the screen at the Palace Grand. This picture of "Maciste" was filmed shortly before he left for the war, in which he gave his life.

PICNIC AND PARTY

Fifteen soldier boys from the rifle range were entertained by as many Glendale young ladies Thursday evening, with an automobile trip to Riverside Park, where a picnic supper was served, followed by a return ride to the home of Mrs. Ed Lee, where a delightful social evening was spent and where refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Mrs. Rebecca Lacy chaperoned the party, which included Misses Dorothy Lee, Margaret Lusby, Ruth Wood, Dorothy Gilson, Frances Payne, Leota Snyder, Alice McCoy, Jennie Lacy, Bernice Wood, Doris Ingledue, Eunice Peart, Ruth Pierce, Helena Schwarze and a few other young ladies whose names could not be secured. The boys enjoyed the party immensely and the girls enjoyed entertaining them.

SOLDIER POETS ENTERTAINED

Mrs. A. G. Walker of 1542 Burchett street and Mrs. C. V. Arrington entertained a group of soldiers from the rifle range Thursday night with a pleasant informal social evening and refreshments of ice cream and cake. L. R. Black gave several beautiful vocal numbers accompanied upon the piano by Mrs. Lottie Laver of this city and the boys entertained themselves in the composition of acrostic poems, the initial letters of the lines spelling their home towns. A prize was offered for the best poem, which was won by Burke R. Morse with the following verse:

"Run, you darned old Hun;
I've just cleaned up my gun.
Vengeanec is my aim.
Every Sammy says the same.
Remember now, I'm not a poet.
Am just a soldier, don't I show it?

The dining room where the refreshments were served was decorated with red and white carnations in honor of the guests who declared that in their estimation Glendale is the capital of the world because of the fine treatment they are receiving here. The guest list included the following:

Fred Keene, Wilspoint, Tex.
Oscar W. Hall, Wellington, Mo.
Leo Anderson, Ventura, Cal.
G. E. Ware, Beloit, Kansas.
Homer Bowman, Pattonsburg, Tex.
Laurence Keyton, Lexington, Mo.
Frank W. Hanus, Tama, Ia.
Burke A. Moore, Rivera, Ark.
L. A. Black, Lynchburg, Tenn.
Glenn Mapes, Iondonville, Ohio.
Clifford Anderson, Missouri.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

The walls of Pacoima canyon echoed and re-echoed with the voices of happy children a-picnicking from the West Glendale M. E. Sunday School last Saturday. Conveyed in modern style by a huge motor truck with long seats upholstered in blankets and comforts, the 75 participants sang "America" and "Brighten the Corner Where You Are" as they merrily rolled along, bringing many artisans off duty to listen at their doors while passing through Burbank and San Fernando. Soon after their arrival at this wonderful but little-known canyon, the event of the day was called—the lunch—spread by a cool brook purring placidly over ancient stones rounded and rolled by the ages. Exploring was the next excitement and a well-defined trail led picnickers far into the depths of the gorge, so narrow it seemed an earthquake at one time must have cracked open these mountains like the dropping of an over-ripe watermelon. Far below, cascading and pooling over and beneath monstrous boulders, ran the waters—green and silver and blue betimes, reflecting maidenhair and five-finger ferns clinging to the mossy cliffs above, where birdnests, teeming with life, clung in the crevices—as protected by the unseen Hand as we. Drinking from the cool mountain stream was the leading sport, even outclassing baseball, which followed "at the end of the trail." This feature was drawn up between Burbank M. E. S. S., which also was spending the day there, and West Glendale M. E. S. S., giving the colors to the latter. After a few more sandwiches and a few more cooling draughts, the tired rollickers left the canyon to its evening silence and went singing homeward to the low drone of the faithful motor.

The Airedale, a shaggy, sad-eyed dog that gained popularity only in recent years, has convinced officers of the signal corps, U. S. army, of the superiority over all breeds as a canine war messenger.

While official authorization for use of the Airedale on the battlefields of Europe has not yet been issued by the war department, schools for intensive training have been established and officers say that reports from the various army camps show that the dogs have made remarkable progress.

LINE UP AND SIGN UP

Turn Back Her Clock An Hour!

We've saved an hour of daylight for the nation. Now let's save an hour of housework each day for the nation's wives and mothers. They need the time. They have their hands full helping win the war by knitting, using the time-consuming war recipes, etc. Let's enable them to save an hour by doing their housework in one-fourth the time—and take the work out of it, too—by providing them with

The HOOVER electric suction sweeper

Don't make her whom you so dearly love spend so much time tiring herself out with back-breaking brooms, hard-pushing carpet-sweepers, arm-tiring dusters, etc., in order to keep the home spic and span—as a good housekeeper's pride demands. Provide her with an easy-gliding Hoover.

It lightly rolls over carpetings, sweeping better than brooms and carpet-sweepers. It raises no dust for her to inhale. IN ADDITION it beats out imbedded grit that only carrying out the rugs and laboriously beating them on the line otherwise removes.

Be a "good fellow" and give her the Hoover she deserves. Terms are very easy.

Mr. Perkins explained that this list represented only a part of the shipments which included a vast number of other articles such as footballs, boxing gloves and other athletic equipment. The strong point he made was that these expenditures have been required for an army that up to two months ago did not exceed 400,000 men. With an army which at present numbers a million men and which will soon reach the proportions of a million and a half men, the monthly expenditures from now on will greatly exceed those of the past and money must be forthcoming to meet them. He estimated that the canteen department alone would in the near future require a capital of $20,000,000.

Every precaution is being taken, Mr. Perkins declared, to prevent a duplication of the work of the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A. and the Red Cross and the two organizations are working together in perfect harmony. While the Red Cross looks after the sick, injured or needy soldiers, the Y. M. C. A. concerns itself with the physical, religious, educational and moral welfare of the men who are not sick. It also endeavors to be a bureau of information between the home folks and the boys "over there."

The non-sectarian character of the work was also referred to by Mr. Perkins and the fact that the buildings which have been erected are used not only by Protestants but also by Catholics and Jews. He spoke of the enlargement of the work to include service by the Y. W. C. A. which would call for an expenditure of twelve to fourteen millions of dollars in the raising of which sum the Y. W. C. A. would co-operate. The work of this woman's organization will cover the hostess houses and ministering to the needs of women who are being taken into the industrial service here and abroad, to take the places of men in camps and on the fighting front. In concluding his address, Mr. Perkins said:

"We have already sent a million of our young men across the seas—the very flower of our land. We are prepared to send another million within a very few months. It is these men who will unquestionably shape and control the destiny of America. They are not only going to war but they are going to the greatest university that a body of men ever attended and it is of the utmost importance that they be surrounded so far as is humanly possible with all the influenecs that will enable their minds to develop along the broadest and most rational lines. The Y. M. C. A. is therefore charged with a mighty responsibility."

THE UNKIND VOICE

A politician who was running for congress thought it worth while to make mention of his humbe origin and early struggles.

"I got my start in life by serving in a grocery at $3 a week, and yet I have managed to save," he announced.

Whereupon a voice in the audience queried:

"Was that before the invention of cash registers?"—Exchange.

CITY TRUSTEES.

port on the bids for the improvement of Broadway, the cost of the improvement as indicated by the bids received being 25 per cent higher than had been estimated. In the opinion of the Engineer, there is no probability of getting the work done any cheaper in the near future, but in the event that the Board decided to go ahead with the work, he recommended the acceptance of the bid of Geo. H. Oswald. On motion of Trustee Henry, it was ordered that all bids for the improvement of Broadway be rejected.

On motion of Trustee Shaw, it was ordered that the returns of the election held on June 24, 1918, in the Kenilworth District for the annexation of that territory to the City of Glendale, be canvassed at this time.

The Clerk appointed as Clerks, Trustees Shaw and Henry.

The canvass of the votes of the election in the Kenilworth District was continued until Friday evening, June 29th, at eleven o'clock, and the Clerk was instructed to notify the officers of the election to be present.

A petition was presented, signed by Charles R. Appenfelder and forty-eight other residents and property owners on Seventh street, requesting that the name of that street be changed to Elk avenue. On motion of Trustee Muhleman, it was ordered that the request of the petitioners be granted, and the name of Seventh street be changed to Elk avenue.

On motion of Trustee Shaw, it was ordered that the sum of $2000.00 be transferred from the Public Service Fund to the General Fund.

On motion of Trustee Shaw, the City Clerk was authorized and instructed to apply to the Supervisors for the cancellation of the assessment for the year 1917 on Lot A of the Witham Tract in the City of Glendale, the same being dedicated to street purposes and, therefore, not assessable.

On motion of Trustee Shaw, Ordinance No. 336, "An Ordinance rescinding Ordinance No. 333 of the City of Glendale," was passed.

Trustee Muhleman introduced an ordinance, "An Ordinance of the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale, changing the names of certain streets in said city," which was read and laid over for final action.

The City Attorney presented a communication consisting of a statement as to the cases filed and on trial in the various courts in which the City of Glendale is interested. On motion of Trustee Shaw, it was ordered that J. E. Barker, employed by the City as an expert in the telephone case, be authorized to proceed to San Francisco to investigate certain records there, his reasonable traveling expenses to be borne by the City.

FIGHTING UNDER TWO FLAGS

By J. W. Pegler

When we came into the war most of the surviving Canadian Americans applied for transfer to the American army, and a St. Louis boy who had been keeping a little silk Stars and Stripes under the water-proof lining of his cap in readiness for the Day, went over the top in a daylight raid with his American flag pinned to his blouse. This lad distinctly was not the Texas gunner who carried his flag on his bayonet.

Few were chosen to go to the American army. Rass and two friends were among them. Of the latter, one went back to his home in Columbus, O., suffering from fresh wounds, to help train American troops, while the other, from Florida, went with Rassmussen to an American officers' finishing school in France to lecture to new American officers.

"We were rotten lecturers," said Rass on the day the assignment ended, as we sat in a little snowbound cafe in an ancient French fortress town, wiating for his train. "I'm glad I'm going back to be with troops again because I wasn't built to fill a swivel-chair."

Next time I heard of him he was commanding his battalion in reserve waiting to relieve a battalion in the line. It was a heavy responsibility for Rass—the biggest job he had ever tackled. And his rank of major in the American army meant much more than the same rank in the Canadian force had meant to him.

It cheered him up, however, to know that his old comrade from Florida, who had been his partner in raids, lectures and forays into London and Paris, was close by, commanding a company in the battalion of Col. Griffiths.

This company commander is still in the ring and fighting, so he can not be identified except by his nickname of Capt. Jock. Capt. Jock had been a captain in the Philippine constabulary with the self-same Griffiths as his major. Prior to that he had been a sergeant in the old 6th infantry in the Philippines.

When War came in 1914 Griffiths and a constabulary captain, whom we will call Capt. Mack, beat it pronto for Hong Kong to fight under their old flag, because it was impossible at that time to throw their fighting poundage against the Boche under the flag of their adoption—and of their true devotion.

Griffiths and Mack received commissions and went to join the Sherwood Foresters in England. They were through the hardest fighting at the Dardanelles. Mack got two shrapnel blows but neither he nor the colonel ever "put up" the wound stripes they were entitled to wear.

"What good do stripes do? Who gives a whoop how many times I have been wounded?" Capt. Mack would ask whenever you called his attention to the bareness of his left cuff, where stripes are worn.

These two Philippine constables, Griffiths and Mack, were as much responsible as any other two men for the great reputation achieved by their division. In the British army today the old soldier regards that division as the fightingest outfit that ever took a trench—even after the recent fights to the death by many other gallant units. If the British had ever taken the French custom of decorating the colors of collective units then that division would have had the Victoria Cross.

A pretty girl at an evening party was bantering a genial bachelor on his reason for remaining single.

"No, I never was exactly disappointed in love," he said. "I was what you might call discouraged. You see, when I was very young I became much enamored of a young lady of my acquaintance. I was mortally afraid to tell her of my feeling, but at length I
